

Resume final draft

Due Monday 4/1/24 all classes

You will fall into one of two categories:

1. You turned in a resume back in October: I printed out your resumes and marked them up with comments. Unless I said "no changes needed" you must edit your resume, addressing my comments, and turn in a new version on this assignment on the Google Classroom. Don't ask me for permission to edit the one you turned in, just open it, and choose "Make a copy" under the File menu. Put the word "final" in the title. Make the edits, plus any additional changes you want to make then turn in the final draft. If you don't understand my comments or notes, ask me.

You also must turn in the physical paper back to me to get full credit on this.

2. You did not turn in the resume back in October: You can get credit for doing a first draft of a resume. See the resume assignment attached here (originally from October 2023). I also have attached a resume template to get you started. Turn in your draft here to get credit.
